This book explores the interaction between corpus stylistics and translation studies. It shows how corpus methods can be used to compare literary texts to their translations, through the analysis of Joseph Conrad's Heart of Darkness and four of its Italian translations. The comparison focuses on stylistic features related to the major themes of Heart of Darkness. By combining quantitative and qualitative techniques, Mastropierro discusses how alterations to the original's stylistic features can affect the interpretation of the themes in translation. The discussion illuminates the manipulative effects that translating can have on the reception of a text, showing how textual alterations can trigger different readings. This book advances the multidisciplinary dialogue between corpus linguistics and translation studies and is a valuable resource for students and researchers interested in the application of corpus approaches to stylistics and translation.

Joseph Conrad (1857-1924) is widely considered one the great modern writers in English literature. This 21-volume set contains titles, originally published between 1976 and 1990 as well as a biography from 1957 written by one of his closest friends. The first 18 books are a set of concordances and indexes to Conrad's printed works, which were part of a project directed by Todd K. Bender at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, USA and are among the first attempts to use the power of computers to enhance our reading environment and assist in lexicography, scholarly editing, and literary analysis. The set also contains a meticulously compiled bibliography of writings on Joseph Conrad, as well as an original and powerful analysis of his major work.

'Heart of Darkness' exposes the tenuous fabric that holds 'civilization' together and the brutal horror at the center of European colonialism. Conrad's crowning achievement recounts Marlow's physical and psychological journey deep into the heart of the Belgian Congo in search of the mysterious trader Kurtz.

Heart of Darkness is a novella written by Polish-born writer Joseph Conrad (born Józef Teodor Konrad Korzeniowski). Before its 1902 publication, it appeared as a three-part series (1899) in Blackwood's Magazine. It is widely regarded as a significant work of English literature and part of the Western canon. This highly symbolic story is actually a story within a story, or frame narrative. It follows Marlow as he recounts, from dusk through to late night, his adventure into the Congo to a group of men aboard a ship anchored in the Thames Estuary. The story details an incident when Marlow, an Englishman, took a foreign assignment as a ferry-boat captain, employed by a Belgian trading company. Although the river is never specifically named, readers may assume it is the Congo River, in the Congo Free State, a private colony of King Leopold II. Marlow is employed to transport ivory downriver; however, his more pressing assignment is to return Kurtz, another ivory trader, to civilization in a cover up. Kurtz has a reputation throughout the region.

Il capitano Marlow viene mandato in missione nel cuore dell'Africa nera, alla ricerca di Mr Kurtz, un commerciante d'avorio di grande talento che ha fatto perdere le proprie tracce. Mano a mano che si addentra nella natura selvaggia, Marlow penetra il lato oscuro della natura e dell'uomo, in una discesa agli inferi del colonialismo, alle origini della paura e del coraggio, da cui non uscirà indenne. Un romanzo d'avventura che è anche un inquietante viaggio nelle ombre dell'anima; un capolavoro che ha affascinato e ispirato generazioni di lettori, da Gide a Mann, da Eliot a Greene, da Moravia allo Scola di Riusciranno i nostri eroi, al Coppola di Apocalypse now. A fianco del più celebre Cuore di tenebra, il volume propone Gioventù, l'esordio come narratore di un giovane Marlow, attraverso il quale Joseph Conrad ripercorre nello sguardo complice del personaggio il suo battesimo del mare, la scoperta dell'Oriente, l'emozione e l'entusiasmo del primo comando.

Heart of Darkness centers around Marlow, an introspective sailor, and his journey up the Congo River to meet Kurtz, reputed to be an idealistic man of great abilities. Marlow takes a job as a riverboat captain with the Company, a Belgian concern organized to trade in the Congo. As he travels to Africa and then up the Congo, Marlow encounters widespread inefficiency and brutality in the Company's stations. The native inhabitants of the region have been forced into the Company's service, and they suffer terribly from overwork and ill treatment at the hands of the Company's agents. The cruelty and squalor of imperial enterprise contrasts sharply with the impassive and majestic jungle that surrounds the white man's settlements, making them appear to be tiny islands amidst a vast darkness.

Cuore di tenebra Taylor & Francis

"Although Polish by birth, Joseph Conrad (1857-1924) is regarded as one of the greatest writers in English, and Heart of Darkness, first published in 1902, is considered by many his ""most famous, finest, and most enigmatic story."" - Encyclopaedia Britannica. The tale concerns the journey of the narrator (Marlow) up the Congo River on behalf of a Belgian trading company. Far upriver, he encounters the mysterious Kurtz, an ivory trader who exercises an almost godlike sway over the inhabitants of the region. Both repelled and fascinated by the man, Marlow is brought face to face with the corruption and despair that Conrad saw at the heart of human existence. In its combination of narrative and symbolic power, masterly character study and acute psychological penetration, Heart of Darkness ranks as a landmark of modern fiction. It is a book no serious student of literature can afford to miss."

Heart of Darkness Routledge

Cuore di tenebra fu scritto da Conrad in due mesi, nel 1898, sotto l'influsso della biografia e del mito di Rimbaud. È anzitutto un libro sul viaggio, sulla passione della scoperta di luoghi nuovi. In seguito, la vicenda di Marlowe diventa una discesa agli inferi, nel cuore dell'Africa. L'incontro con Kurtz - agente dei mercanti d'avorio, che ha reso brutalmente schiavi gli indigeni - mette il protagonista, e il lettore, a contatto con il "cuore di tenebra": il Male, reso grottesco da quegli uomini che credono Kurtz una sorta di divinità. Ma anche lui è, a suo modo, una vittima della solitudine, della follia della cultura occidentale che va in mille pezzi quando entra in contatto con l'Altro. La morale del polacco-inglese Conrad è una risposta polemica al russo Dostoevskij: dato che Dio non c'è, difendiamoci da soli contro noi stessi.

First serialized in Blackwood's Magazine in 1899, "Heart of Darkness" is the story of steamboat captain Charlie Marlow's voyage into the primitive interior of the Congo of Africa. As a manager of a Belgian ivory company, Marlow travels up the Congo River to meet Kurtz, an agent of the ivory company. Deep in the interior of Africa Marlow finds Kurtz living among the savage natives who revere him as a God. While neither a critical nor financial success during Conrad's lifetime, "Heart of Darkness" has since become Conrad's most famous work, one of the most analyzed works in the history of literature. In "Heart of Darkness", the Polish born Conrad has crafted an intense psychological drama that deals with the very nature of good and evil. Sharp contrast is drawn by Conrad between the "civilized" world of continental Europe and the "uncivilized" world of the interior of Africa, in a mysteriously ambiguous narrative that presents the reader with an inquisitive commentary of the evil savagery that lies at the heart of human existence.

Cuore di tenebra. Il cinema di Dario Argento Grandi tascabili economici.I mammut Gold Heart of Darkness (1899) is a short novel by Polish novelist Joseph Conrad, written as a frame narrative, about Charles Marlow's experience as an ivory transporter down the Congo River in Central Africa. The river is "a mighty big river, that you could see on the map, resembling an immense snake uncoiled, with its head in the sea, its body at rest curving afar over a vast country, and its tail lost in the depths of the land". In the course of his travel in central Africa, Marlow becomes obsessed with Mr. Kurtz. The story is a complex exploration of the attitudes people hold on what constitutes a barbarian versus a civilized society and the attitudes on colonialism and racism that were part and parcel of European imperialism. Originally published as a three-part serial story, in Blackwood's Magazine, the novella Heart of Darkness has been variously published and translated into many languages. In 1998, the Modern Library ranked Heart of Darkness as the sixty-seventh of the hundred best novels in English of the twentieth century.

"The reading of all good books is like conversation with the finest (people) of the past centuries." - Descartes A new edition of Heart of Darkness, the 1899 masterpiece by Polish-British novelist Joseph Conrad about a voyage up the Congo River into the Heart of Africa. The story is narrated by Charles Marlow, recalling his obsessive quest to locate the ivory trader Kurtz, who has become ensconced deep in the jungle managing a remote outpost. As he ventures further and further down the Congo, Marlow finds himself and his surroundings become increasingly untethered. Heart of Darkness has been widely re-published and translated into many languages. It provided the inspiration for Francis Ford Coppola's 1979 film Apocalypse Now. In 1998, the Modern Library ranked Heart of Darkness 67th on their list of the 100 best novels in English of the twentieth century. Literary critic Harold Bloom wrote that Heart of Darkness had been analysed more than any other work of literature that is studied in universities and colleges, which he attributed to Conrad's "unique propensity for ambiguity." Joseph Conrad (1857-1924) was a Polish-British writer, regarded by many as one of the finest English-language novelists of the 20th century. An early modernist, his narrative style, anti-heroic characters, and focus on the psychological lives of his protagonists were extremely influential on other authors. Conrad's experience as a Polish emigre to Great Britain also brought a unique perspective to his novels, often set on the outskirts of the British Empire with a focus on the costs of imperialism and colonialism. Among his most popular and influential works were Heart of Darkness (1899), Lord Jim (1900), Typhoon (1902), Nostromo (1904), The Secret Agent (1907), and Under Western Eyes (1911). A 19th century classics literature edition.

Introduzione di Bruno Traversetti Traduzione di Flaminio Di Biagi Edizioni integrali I temi salienti dell'opera narrativa di Joseph Conrad vengono riproposti in questo volume attraverso una scelta di alcuni tra i più rappresentativi romanzi dello scrittore: in Karain: un ricordo e ne La laguna si svolge l'incontro di due culture sullo sfondo di un Oriente magico e misterioso, mentre Il ritorno, Domani, Amy Foster e Gli idioti sono ambientati in Occidente, e sembrano alludere al disagio esistenziale dell'uomo occidentale vittima di un progresso impietoso; Il compagno segreto è il più letterario dei romanzi conradiani e sviluppa in chiave di avventura marinaresca il tema affascinante e inquietante del doppio, così come Un avamposto del progresso e Cuore di tenebra (forse il capolavoro di Conrad) riflettono sensazioni e turbamenti vissuti dall'autore durante il suo soggiorno in Africa. «Marlow terminò di raccontare, e si sedette in disparte, indistinto e silenzioso, nella posa di un Buddha in meditazione. Per un poco nessuno si mosse. «Abbiamo perso l'inizio della marea», disse a un tratto il direttore. Sollevai la testa. Il mare aperto era sbarrato da un nero banco di nubi, e la tranquilla via navigabile che conduceva agli estremi confini della terra scorreva cupa sotto un cielo coperto - sembrava portare verso il cuore di una tenebra immensa.» Joseph Conrad (Józef Konrad Korzeniowski) nacque nel 1857 a Berdyczew, nella Polonia meridionale. Nel 1874 cominciò a viaggiare per mare. Dieci anni più tardi, ottenuta la cittadinanza inglese, trasformò il suo vero nome in quello con il quale è universalmente conosciuto e si affermò come uno dei più grandi scrittori di lingua inglese, pur essendo il polacco la sua lingua madre. Morì nel 1924. Sue celebri opere sono Cuore di tenebra, Il reietto delle isole (1896), Lord Jim (1900), Nostromo (1904), La linea d'ombra (1917). Di Conrad la Newton Compton ha pubblicato anche Romanzi del mare.

Cuore di tenebra

This is a fine edition of Joseph Conrad's most acclaimed novel, printed on cream, acid-free paper. As the narrator Marlow journeys ever deeper into the Congo's 'heart of darkness', so he also penetrates deeper into the folly of western corruption and absurdity that characterises both the collision of European and African cultures, and the conflicts in his own inner nature. The story that tells of Marlow's mission to find the mysterious but missing Mr Kurtz, as he travels along the Congo River into the interior of the 'dark continent', tells also a second dark story of what happens when white westerners intrude into, and try to dominate, the continent of Africa without understanding either its people or their culture; but at its most penetrating level, Conrad's story reveals that the 'heart of darkness' lies at the core of human nature itself, that the journey to find Kurtz, is Marlow's journey to his own darkness that, viewed at its most bleak is the darkness that we all share.

The Reception of Joseph Conrad in Europe

Nel cuore rigoglioso e magico dell'Irlanda, dove la realtà si mescola all'incanto, e la magia dei miti celtici si respira insieme all'aria profumata della foresta di Whoille, sta per accadere qualcosa di terribile. I Molokos sono in subbuglio, l'adepta zero sta per tornare e il sangue degli innocenti comincerà a scorrere... Mi chiamo Mira Doyle e sono stata rapita. Distesa su un giaciglio, dolorante, legata e bendata, aspetto che il mio destino si compia. Sono terrorizzata, e furiosa. Solo poche settimane prima, avevo realizzato il sogno della mia vita, poi, senza una ragione apparente, sono stata catapultata in un incubo. Il mio aguzzino vuole usarmi e uccidermi; vuole proteggermi e liberarmi. È spietato e gentile. Ha due facce, mi confonde. I giorni trascorrono ed io resto in vita, allora riprendo a sperare. Presto conoscerò la verità, saprò perché mi è stata negata la libertà e risparmiata la vita. Saprò perché non sono più sicura di voler fuggire e tornare indietro. Il mio cuore è spaccato in due e non so su quale metà mi trovo. Voglio andare a casa, voglio restare qui. Il mio nome è Amon Dougherty, e sono un mostro. Una misera caricatura di ciò che ero un tempo. Sono assetato di sangue e vendetta. Non vedrò luce, non troverò pace fino a quando non avrò scovato chi ha rovinato la mia vita, e gliela farò pagare. Per far sì che ciò avvenga sono disposto a tutto, anche ad uccidere. Adopererò i mezzi necessari e userò gli individui giusti. Mi servirò di lei, del suo nome, del suo sangue, e ciò che le sue origini rappresentano. Il male, puro e assoluto. Alla fine la distruggerò. Se mai ne avrò il coraggio... Negherò la realtà, ignorerò la verità, e renderò più oscura la mia anima. Voglio che se ne vada, voglio che resti. Un castello dalla bellezza secolare, una leggenda mistica, l'effigie di un algido cigno, ambientazioni ombrose e dense di fascino, sono gli ingredienti di questa storia incredibile e avventurosa, che vedrà Mira, giovane studiosa, e Amon, uomo misterioso e dalla doppia faccia, combattere contro un nemico comune, invisibile e sanguinario.

Heart Of Darkness

Joseph Conrad's ""Heart of Darkness"" is not simply a critique of colonialism in the Congo, but it is an examination of the human tendency toward self-endangering corruptibility. In this updated collection of critical essays, master literary scholar Harold Bloom suggests that this resonant work has taken on the power of myth. This study guide to ""Heart of Darkness"" also features an annotated bibliography and a listing of other works by the author.
