'MAGIC! A fun, fierce, honest origin story of how to drag yourself up out of trouble and become an icon' Katherine Ryan 'A triumph for UK queer culture' Travis Alabanza 'Eye-opening, intelligent, thoughtful as well as sassy and surprising - a must read' Lorraine Kelly

A witty and inspiring guide to transforming your life through lessons from drag, by the UK's favourite drag queen and star of RuPaul's Drag Race UK, Bimini Bon Boulash. From being told she couldn't have dance lessons as a kid in Great Yarmouth to having to conform to the stereotypes of the gay scene in London's East End, people have always been trying to put Bimini Bon Boulash in a box. It was only through discovering the art of drag that she began to fight back against those preconceptions, and understand that she had the power to define herself. In A Drag Queen's Guide to Life, Bimini tells the story of how drag took her from the brink of self-destruction to become a gag-inducing, death-dropping, plant-based superstar. Drawing on her own experience as a nonbinary person in a binary world, as well as inspirational stories from history, politics, pop culture and fashion, she uses all her wit, charm and kindness to show us how to lead the lives we wish we could lead, through the life-changing magic of dragging up.

First published in 1970, nine years after Hemingway's death, this is the story of an artist and adventurer—a man much like Hemingway himself. Beginning in the 1930s, Islands in the Stream follows the fortunes of Thomas Hudson, from his experiences as a painter on the Gulf Stream island of Bimini through his antisubmarine activities off the coast of Cuba during World War II. Hemingway is at his mature best in this beguiling tale.

The place, town or city is relevant to the story. HINT - use Google maps. ÿ Baba Indaba is a fictitious Zulu storyteller who narrates children's stories from around the world. Baba Indaba translates as "Father of Stories". ÿ It is believed that folklore and tales are believed to have originated in India and made their way overland along the Silk and Spice routes and through the Middle East and Central Asia before arriving in Europe. Even so, this does not cover all folklore from all four corners of the world. Indeed folklore, legends and myths from Africa, Australia, Polynesia, and some from Asia too, can be altogether quite different and seem to have originated on the whole from separate reservoirs of lore, legend and culture. ÿ

Running from the brutal death of her parents and the face that haunts her dreams, Arianna De La Croix fears her destiny. After barely escaping the hands of her enemy that night she welcomes the blackness of death as she is pulled under the river of Ice. Her life, however, had just begun. Her savior came in the form of a war hardened soldier with a heart of gold. Alaric becomes her protector and she contentedly stays sequestered away in the forest. That is until that fateful day, when her eyes met Luca's and her life was thrown into chaos. Captured by her enemy, her secrets are slowly revealed. She finds herself and she finds love, but is love enough to break the curse? Excerpt: Cautious of making eye contact I distance myself from the other vendors. That is until I see them... Weapons of every make and mould shining like metallic diamonds in the sunlight. I am drawn like a moth to flame and I must touch them all. "Good day my Lady. I have some brooches a misses like you might prefer over those..." Ha! If this blacksmith only knew what I could do with a sword like this. "Thank you sir, but I am more interested in your weapons." He was quite taken aback by this statement but recovered quickly.

"Perhaps you have a husband or father that you buy for?" His condescension was starting to bother me, yet I held my tongue and traced my fingers over the ruby bejeweled handle of the scythe blade. Beautiful. Then I felt it. A pinprick sensation upon my neck that I could not put a name to. I was being watched. My first thought was, mayhap Alaric was in the shadows to protect me should I need it...but his gaze did not feel like this. Like fire upon my skin. I slowly turned in the direction of the pull and I found myself staring into the bluest eyes I have ever seen... no. I had seen these eyes before. Thousands of times. I ran. I don't know what came over me but I turned and ran from the man with the beautiful face and cerulean eyes. When I gained the distance and the courage I turned back to see him jump the stone fence in chase. Dear gods! He was after me and now I could see armed men in black filter out of the town behind him. I feared the premonitions of his face meant to warn me of my death. "He will be your downfall." My mothers words filled my mind. I pushed harder into the woods, the low evergreen limbs whipping my face, when I heard his gentle voice. "Please stop." It halted me in my tracks and I turned to see him standing tall with question in his eyes. Those eyes would trap me now. "Why do you run?" he gasped out between breaths. With final simplicity I replied. "You scare me." And I screamed in horror as the arrow pierced his heart and he fell to his knees.Those who love the works of Kristen Cashore and Sandra J. Maas will delight in Cerulean Lies.

Prepare to board and ride a stormy sea of emotions as you pack your gear for a voyage on Gill's ship; "The Skeleton Key" Cerulean Lies Booksurge Publishing Ernest Hemingway casts a very long shadow - especially the one thrown over Ray Knight by the Bahamian sunset on Hemingway's beloved islands of Bimini. Using the late literary giant's terse aphorisms and mordant quips as springboards for his own lean and drum-tight prose, Ray Knight invites us to join him on a journey from Pamplona to Bimini, in the footsteps of his literary hero. This collection of short stories, anecdotes and excerpts from the author's novels runs the gamut of emotions, from pathos and tragedy to humor and unabashed sentimentality - from a moving and thought-provoking look at the ethical ramifications of euthanasia to a boxing tale that pulls no punches, and without which no homage to Hemingway would be complete. Whether you add an extra kick to your coffee break one tale at a time or settle down with a glass of rum and spend an evening 'In The Footsteps of Hemingway', you're in for an enjoyable and edifying read - and a great introduction to the author's full-length works. The Vet's Dilemma:- A personal look at one man's anguished choice between humanity and morality. What will he do? What would you do? The Tears of a Clown:- A clown's antics bring joy to thousands of children but behind the make-up is a face racked with pain. Monty:- A man's relationship with his car confounds his daughter and leads to a traumatic and deadly conclusion.. Shadows :- A man struggles for survival in a harsh and dangerous environment. Voices from his past come to haunt him. Will they save or condemn him? A Father's Love:- A father risks the wrath of his community and his life in a desperate attempt rescue his son from the horror of addiction. It Tolls for Thee:- A washed-up boxer is offered one last, desperate shot at the big time - will he risk his life for one final chance of glory? Right of Passage:- A young hunter faces the ultimate test - will he become a legend or just a memory? A sample chapter from 'The Mountain'... Felicia's Cabin:- A kidnapped woman faces up to her captors in this sample chapter from 'The Hatcher File'... Walking With the Bulls:- The author recalls his experience in Pamplona in 1977 - a year of tragic events at the Festival of San Fermin Every Job in Town:- An amusing recollection of the author's time in Sydney during 1980, when Australia was a land full of opportunities for a young man... either to get rich or get into a lot trouble!

Not far beneath the surface of the gin clear Bahamas waters lies a fortune in treasure from an ancient galleon. Marine archaeologists and ocean adventurers have the license from the government to excavate the site and recover artifacts to create a maritimemuseum in the capitol city of Nassau. When word of the expedition gets out, a greedy high level official from within the government hatches a scheme to help himself to some of the rich booty. But the Royal Bahamas Defense Force, with the help of dedicated civilian volunteers, and two resourceful teenage brothers, launch a plan of their own to make certain that the entire mother lode is returned to its rightful place for the world to enjoy. Max Carson and his sons, P. J. and Gaffer, return in this high speed adventure, featuring thrilling underwater action, big game fishing, and survival of the raging forces of nature, to keep this story moving along at without letting up.

AARP Bimini, the Berry Islands and Andros, Bahamas Simon and Schuster David Warner first arrived on Bimini in his youth. Captivated by the island's quirky natives and their relaxed culture, Warner has been returning frequently ever since. Rather than write a travel guide, in his new book Warner recreates the excitement and danger of the Bimini he has come to know for the traveler who prefers the safety of the armchair. Warner introduces us to the eclectic personalities that people the island--the fishermen and smugglers, the Hemingway scholars and the Hemingway compatriots, the lawless and the lovelorn--and recounts the adventures they lived. With his intimate knowledge of the island and its inhabitants, Warner, Bimini's adopted son, takes the reader on a trip to the Bahamas not available through any tour.

Es ist mehr als nur eine Insel der Bahamas. In Bimini ist der Starreporter Olaf Jensen einem ebenso unglaublichen wie sensationellen Geheimnis auf der Spur. Zwischen Revolution, karibischer Exotik und der Liebe zu der vermeintlichen Revolutionärin Doña Escobar entwickelt sich eine atemberaubende Geschichte mit einer unglaublichen Auflösung. Der österreichische Reiseschriftsteller und Feuilletonist Arnold Höllriegel alias Richard A. Beermann (1883-1939) schreibt mit diesem Filmroman eine ebenso amüsante wie intelligente Satire auf die Film- und Medienbranche der Zeit. Die Aktualität seiner Analysen reicht jedoch weit über die Weimarer Republik hinaus bis in die Gegenwart.- Bimini Rowman & Littlefield

Follow Ernest Hemingway's exploits on the Bahamian island of Bimini from 1935 to 1937, the very moment in time when the International Game Fish Association (under the author's co-leadership) was emerging. Covers Hemingway's role in the formation of the IGFA, his underappreciated seminal writing about competitive saltwater angling when the sport was still in its infancy, the amazing fishing he enjoyed on the island, and the way all of these experiences translated into the composition of his posthumous novel Islands in the Stream. This is the only book on this period in Hemingway's life and reveals unexpected dimensions to the Hemingway portrait that deserve attention, including his surprising humor, his advanced conservationist views several decades before the environmental movement even began, and his egalitarian ideas about his contemporary female counterparts in the big-game fishing world—challenging the usual portrait of Hemingway as a chauvinist with no personal rules, boundaries, or conscience. Includes beautiful vintage photographs of 1930s Bimini that have never been published in book form.

This art book is a visual and written documentation of a modern-day visionary and his journey into the heart of Bimini. It links the Island of Bimini to the lost continent of Atlantis, and contains 149 color images painted on Bimini by internationally acclaimed visionary artist Norbert H. Kox. His writings suggest the probable connection between the last remaining speck of Atlantis and this tiny island in the Atlantic, located directly within the Bermuda Triangle. The writings postulate interdimensional portals and possible time travel (in agreement with quantum physics) explaining subtle energies that interact with and affect our physical world. The research is well documented and the paintings are stunning. The artworks in this book represent eleven years of painting and research on the Island of Bimini, and although they do not all correlate with Atlantis and the energy of the Universe, they are a documentation of Kox's art exhibitions on the Island. (Soft cover, 8 1/2 X 11; 118 pages).

If I were to ask you what your favorite animal to pet would be, would you say cat, or maybe dog? How about a 20 foot long 900 pound great hammerhead shark? Bimini is one of the few places in the world that you can get so close to one of these iconic apex predators that you could pet them. Maybe you enjoy fishing. Bimini's location on the edge of the Gulf Stream has helped earn its title as "Sport Fishing Capital of the World."

Even the famous author, Ernest Hemingway, was lured to Bimini by tales of the incredible fishing available here. More than 50 record-setting catches have been made in its waters. Bimini has many exciting places to explore and fun activities to enjoy. This book covers some of the very basic things that a visitor would want to know, or might be curious about. This book presents readers with many different activities, safety tips, suggestions on places to stay, and even some suggestions on where to eat. This book delivers exactly as advertised... a basic traveler's guide. It is definitely no Fodor's or Rick Steves, but it certainly delivers more than enough information for any traveler wanting to visit this wonderful place.

Raven and Lucas embark upon a personal cruise around the Bahamas for an adventure of a lifetime. Raven discovers a mysterious wooden idol on a secluded beach, just a couple of hours into their two-week journey. Her curiosity and archaeological scientific mind entices her to keep the artifact with the intention of researching its background and story. Where did this unique, seemingly non-Bahamian statue originate and how did it land in Bimini? Things go terribly wrong after finding the artifact. In the process of denying its supernatural power and fixing all their misfortunes, the zealous explorers form stronger bonds with friends, strangers and ultimately each other. Is it all in Raves' overactive imagination, or does the idol truly have bad juju? Breakfast in Bimini follows this couple's journey through paradise and beyond, perhaps even to another dimension.

Can Jane Bunker find a loophole in her latest killer case? Everyone in Green Haven seems to know that part-time deputy sheriff Jane Bunker has been invited to the Summer Solstice Soiree. Why? Because, as one of a small number of eligible single women in this Maine fishing village, Jane is a real catch. But even when faced with the prospect of new romance, it's hard for Jane to take her mind off the business of crime-solving. Case in point: a young woman working at the Bar Harbor Inn who has just gone missing. The Inn employs foreign-exchange students from across the globe during the busy summer season, and the missing Bianca Chiriak is one of them. When her investigation makes it clear that Bianca isn't just out partying during the solstice, Jane is plunged into the deep, dark underbelly of Green Haven--and is charged with finding Bianca before the worst happens ...
